

EDITOR'S TRIVIA CONTEST

Well fellow club members, I found myself with a blank space in the newsletter and nothing of suitable size in my files to occupy it. So, in the interests of filling that void quickly in order to get the newsletter completed and out, I'm offering another Editor's Trivia Contest. The "lucky" winner will be presented with some kind of canine-themed, handcrafted soap in recognition of their supreme doggy knowledge.

THE CHALLENGE: NAME 6 BREEDS OF DOGS SHOWN WITH CORDED COATS.

HINTS: Two are not yet AKC eligible.

Three are used for herding.

Two are used for hunting.

Two are used for guarding.

Five originated in Europe.

The color of one is white only.

The smallest should be only 8-1/2 to 11-1/2 inches high at the shoulder.

The largest (male) should be at least 27-1/2 inches high at the shoulder.

And now that I've filled my space completely, you're on your own to come up with the answers!

Try your hand at guessing where the "hybrids" (i.e., "mutts") came from: shelter or breeder. Think you know dogs?? Take this test. You might be surprised. <http://www.grumpybumpers.com/dogs/>

BRAGS & WAGS

Shalisa and Geoff Neely's CH ROCK 'N ROLL ROSIE OF MAJESTIC received an Award of Merit at the 2006 Bulldog Nationals held in Florida. The entry was 604 Bulldogs, and only four Awards of Merit were given. Quite an honor!

And despite being tired from having just returned from his 7,000 mile trip to Florida, their homebred BISS CH MAJESTIC WILLY McKEE distinguished himself at the televised AKC/Eukanuba Invitational in Long Beach in December by being awarded Best of Breed of the top 25 Bulldogs in the country, sending him to Group and making himself and Shalisa TV stars! (Willy also won Best Bred By Exhibitor.)

Congratulations to Shalisa and Geoff and Rosie and Willy on their continued successes and recognition.
